The Elder Booth and the Lord's Prayer.

A very pleasant incident has recently come to light concerning the elder Booth, which will bear repeating. It seems when he was once visiting in Baltimore he was asked in a select and fashionable party as an especial favor to recite the Lord's prayer. He signified his willingness to gratify those present, and all eyes were fixed upon him as he slowly and reverently rose from his chair trembling with the burden of two great conceptions. He had to realize the character, attributes and presence of the Almighty Being he was to address; he was to transform himself into a poor, sinning, stumbling, benighted, needy supplicant, offering homage, asking bread, pardon, light and guidance. Says one who was present: "It was wonderful to watch the play of emotions on his countenance. The silence could be felt. It had become absolutely painful, until it was broken as by an electric shock as his rich-toned voice ay-labled forth, 'Our Father which art in heaven,' with a pathos and fervid solemnity that thrilled all hearts. He finished; not a voice was heard as the host stepped forward with streaming eyes and seized Mr. Booth by the hand. 'Sir,' said he, 'you have afforded me a pleasure for which my whole future life will feel grateful. I am an old man, and every day from boyhood to the present time I have repeated the Lord's prayer. But I never heard it before, never.' 'You are right,' said Mr. Booth; 'to read that prayer as it should be read caused me the severest study and labor for 30 years, and I am far from satisfied with my rendering of that wonderful production. Hardly one person in ten thousand comprehends how much beauty, tenderness and grandeur can be condensed into a space so simple. That prayer itself sufficiently illustrates the truth of the Bible, and stamps upon it the seal of divinity.'"

There is material for reflection in the statement of Chancellor Howard Crosby, that during the last thirty years he had investigated the cases of thousands of street beggars and had never yet found an American beggar. They often claimed to have been born in this country, he said, but when their story was investigated they were invariably found to be immigrants. Until five years ago the four nations contributed the greatest number of beggars were England, Ireland, Scotland and Germany, but Italy has recently added a large swarm of rag-pickers, children with baskets, and broken-down old men with hand-organs. At one time the Chancellor gave an entire month, to visit the addresses given by the hundreds of beggars who called at his door for aid. In every case he found the applicant a foreigner and also a liar. In referring to the naturalization system, he said that while the law requires a man to be here five years before he can vote, he knew men who had not been in the United States for three years, and yet they were not only voters, but were employed as registry clerks. These fellows would ask a man born in New York, and who had lived there for half a century, how long he had been in this country, and when told would put on a terrifying look and add, "Will you swear to it?"

Remarkable Elopement and Marriage.

A dispatch from Richmond, Va., dated March 31, says: Westland Pierce, a young gentleman of this place, has for some time past been in love with Miss Daisy Shoemaker, the pretty daughter of a well known farmer living near this place. The lady's parents objected, but the lover persuaded the sweetheart, who was under 21 years, to elope with him. It was agreed that she should take her father's buggy and drive into the adjoining county, where her lover would be waiting with a Magistrate and witnesses to consummate the marriage. Yesterday morning, when the time came for Miss Daisy to start, her courage failed, and she would not go. Her sister, Miss Jane, a bewitching brunette, two years her senior, who was in the plot, begged her to keep her trust with her lover, but all in vain. "Well, if you don't keep your word with Westland, I'll do it for you," she said, and indignantly leaving her sister, she got into the buggy and dashed off, despite the screams of her sister, who could not divine her purpose. Miss Jane reached the waiting place: explanations were made; she said she was willing to take her sister's place. The lover, touched by her pluck, and captivated by her determination, not to let the plan fall through, did actually marry her.

That's the racket. Let's number the hours of midnight up to 24 o'clock. It will sound odd to say 18 o'clock, but no more so than the present figures sounded at first. We will lead off by remarking that the counting room of this paper is open for business from 6 to 10 o'clock.

WHAT IT MEANS.

Concerning the dead lock in the Senate of the United States, the Chicago Times says:

Here, then, is the essential matter in this obstinate combat. It is on one side the cause of men who have revolted against the Bourbon solidly, and are struggling to break its power in the Southern States. It is on the other side the cause of Bourbonism fighting to maintain its solid domination in those States. It is the cause of action against reaction, of progress against retrogression, of political life against political death. The Bourbons realize the fact that the break-up of their solid domination at the south will write on the last page of their party history the word "finis."

It can never be expected that in one day or through one stroke of policy a great political party will forsake its opinions and cease to exist. The Democratic party would not cease absolutely to exist under any imaginable circumstances which might be brought to bear upon it, but it would no doubt be greatly weakened by showing the South that it could obtain fuller recognition by forsaking Bourbonism. The dead lock in the Senate does not arise from any difference of opinion as to the advisability of encouraging independence in political opinion. It has simply been an outgrowth of the difference between machine and liberal political methods. Shall Senator Conkling, who is elected by the State of New York, control the patronage of an empire, or shall President Garfield, who was elected by the Union, exercise the functions of his office? That seems to be the question, and the answer ought to be in favor of the man in whom thirty-eight commonwealths have reposed their trust.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Conkling was one of the most efficient aids in securing Garfield's election. Among other things the brilliant Senator said this of his candidate for the Presidency. "Garfield is capable of holding his own, not only in party strife, but in collisions between individuals." Some service with him in Congress has made me well acquainted with General Garfield. That he has the intelligence, experience and habit of mind that fit him for the (Presidential) office I think I know. Without early advantages he years ago achieved prominence among the leading men in public life, and that prominence he has maintained ever since in all the collisions between individuals and parties. That he is competent for the duties before him there seems to me no reason to doubt. Roscoe's present action shows one of two opinions either that Garfield has changed wonderfully, or that he expected to rule the President and hence insure that he could be right.

The Carson Appeal says: That Mr. Gorman secured Mahone for the Republicans and that Senator Conkling should back him up and reward him for it, seems to Mr. Cassidy's mind something over which all good citizens should weep copiously. Mr. Cassidy's record as a political purist in Nevada during half a dozen campaigns, and notably the last, hardly warrants him in assuming any very great amount of indignation at anything at present existing in Washington. Yet the Evening Sentinel daily holds its fingers to its nose and avers that the effluvia in the political atmosphere is too rank for its delicately constituted nostrils. When Mr. Cassidy reaches Washington as a representative of Nevada we shall expect him to effect numerous reforms in the management of politics which will lift this degraded nation to a plain of decency and goodness heretofore unknown.

M. H. De Young had himself interviewed in New York. This would seem to prove the oft repeated assertion that Mr. De Young does not possess the newspaper instinct. He allowed himself to say that San Francisco is a great city, and that Kearney is a miserable fellow without followers. This is a first class way to secure Kearney the following which he desires. Mr. De Young may know a great many things, but as the principal figure in an interview he is evidently at the mercy of the soul searching reporter.

Dan de Quille has been at it again. Hear him:

"As for deer and buffalo—but space forbids going into details in regard to the game—we followed with the bow when able to draw our arrow with the muscle of a man and mere array of figures without something of the incidents attending the slaughter, would only interest a dealer in pelts."—Am. Union.

A man was hung in Santa Barbara recently for killing deer and buffalo in his mind and there is a certain "old and qualified journalist" in Virginia whom we would not like to see sacrificed.

A thousand Chinamen, more or less, are coming to California by every steamer—the last lot bringing the smallpox with them in a very virulent form. Meanwhile nothing has been done with the new treaty, if indeed, anything can be done with it, the Republicans being too busy in satisfying the claims of Senatorial Courtesy on the party to attend to such trifling matters.

The Hartford Times, Democratic, says the Democrats, like the careless boy who got to the bottom of the class, can lock on with hopeful equanimity, assured that any change will probably be to their advantage. Careless is good, also hopeful equanimity. How is it about the boy next to this careless youth who is charged with hopeful equanimity. How can he look on?

The Czar of Russia is confining himself in an obscure place, fully surrounded by soldiers. He and all his advisers have received notice that he has been sentenced to death by the Nihilists. It must be a very enjoyable throne, that Russian affair. The Czar, from all accounts, has a very fine crown, but it gives him the head-ache to wear it.

Every man and woman desires to excel in something. The scandal-monger male or female may rejoice in the undisputed fact that he or she is the most despicable animal on the face of the earth. It is well understood that gossipers are about as worthy of confidence or respect as a rattlesnake or a skunk.

As may be seen by reference to another column Nevada produces the boss trout. The principle exhibit at the Fulton Market was composed of California and Nevada varieties. The Nevada exhibit which took the premium was collected through the Gazette.

There is some doubt expressed by California exchanges as to whether the Legislators are entitled to pay for the extra session. The Solons don't doubt it, for they have allowed the pay, and the Controller will issue warrants. The California Sun is "too early" for the financial "worm."

Senator Frye, of Maine, has made a stalwart speech, and the Democrats are mad about it. They threaten to support Conkling, in order to console themselves, and if that will be any comfort to them why don't they do it?

Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood, a female lawyer of Washington, D. C., wants the Brazilian Mission. Now, President Garfield, if you have any love remaining for your kind, let her have it.

TRUCKEE TROUT

Carry Off the Honors at the Exhibition in New York.

At the annual exhibition of trout at Fulton Market, in New York, Nevada carried off the palm. We may merely preface the following from the Scientific American, by saying that the Truckee river is in Nevada, and not in California. We will further say that the principal trout exhibit, that of B. B. Redding, was procured here for the exhibitor by W. A. Lawson, a member at that time of the Gazette staff. There was a general exhibition of fish, "but the trout stand was the magnet, for here were specimens of the speckled beauties from Canada, Maine, Connecticut, Vermont, Pennsylvania, the Empire State, England, and remote California and Nevada; indeed, to the California exhibit must be awarded the palm. There were trout in tanks and trout in banks; live trout and dead trout; big trout and little trout; trout reeling on beds of moss, and trout suspended in bowers of roses. The two principal exhibitors of California trout were B. B. Redding, Fish Commissioner, and M. T. Brewer, of San Francisco, the following specimens being specially worthy of notice: Fish Commissioner Redding sent an exhibit of Truckee river trout, a large black spotted fish which grows from six to ten pounds in weight.

Lake Tahoe trout, also a black spotted fish, but much larger than the Truckee river trout. It averages about twelve pounds in weight, although they have been caught weighing as high as seventeen pounds.

The Dolly Varden trout, so called because covered with variegated blotches. It is a small but gaudy fish, and weighs from three to four pounds.

Rainbow trout, from the McCloud river. It has a brilliant red stripe from head to tail, and it was quite a feature in the exhibition.

M. T. Brewer's exhibit, which did not arrive until late on Saturday, was comprised of nine distinct varieties, as follows:

Truckee river land-locked salmon trout.

Lake Tahoe salmon trout.

Independence Lake trout.

Donner Lake speckled trout.

Humboldt salmon trout.

Silver Mountain salmon trout.

Pyramid Lake speckled trout.

Truckee river red trout.

Sacramento river salmon.

Death in the Flames.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23. A Salinas dispatch says that the residence of H. S. Ball, Mayor of Salinas City, was burned last night. Mr. Ball was absent at the time of the fire, and when the flames were subdued the bodies of Mrs. Ball and her two daughters, Henrietta and Mercy, were found in the ruins. All White.

The inside of the White House awning is putting on a coat of paint. The proprietors say the whole house is white, including the men employed and the prices asked.

The Winters Fire.

The following additional particulars of the disastrous fire on the Winters ranch near Washoe, are furnished the GAZETTE by J. N. Barstow of Washoe: At about 7:50 last evening (21st) the fine barn belonging to Theo. Winters, near Washoe, was discovered to be on fire, and in a few moments was entirely destroyed together with its entire contents, consisting of between 150 and 200 tons of hay and grain, 11 milch cows, five calves, 3 fine horses, including one named Springbox, a racer of some note, and three thoroughbred sheep. The only thing saved from the building was a spring wagon, and at one time it was thought that the fine residence adjoining would be burned, as a strong wind was blowing at the time, whirling great masses of embers against it, but by the strenuous efforts of about 50 men, and a plentiful supply of water, no damage was done, except in some places a slight scorching. Only a rough estimate can now be made referring to the total loss, but it must be in excess of $10,000. Several theories are advanced as to the cause of the fire. Some think it was done by an incendiary, and others that it was caused by the inevitable pipe.

The Asylum Plans.

The Board of Commissioners on the Insane held a meeting in Carson City yesterday for the purpose of receiving plans and specifications for the new Asylum. About twenty plans were offered to the Board, varying in many important particulars. Among the architects and contractors were C. B. Martin, Wadsworth; Mackay and Haist, Virginia; Jno. S. Sturgeon, Reno; Bernstein, Gold Hill, Newsom Bros., Pissis & Co., and Isen & Co. of San Francisco, and J. Roberts, Bridgeport. There were other bids from San Francisco, San Jose and Grass Valley, but we did not learn the names of contractors. There were a large number of contractors and builders in attendance on the Board meeting who were not ostensibly interested in the plans submitted, and much talk was made over the features of the various plans. The Board adjourned until Thursday next, when its members will hear the report of experts appointed to inspect the plan. Six plans were rejected outright because they were too expensive.

A Strong Car.

The Southern Pacific road is getting out some new freight cars which are far ahead of anything in their line. They are intended to carry 20 tons instead of the usual load of 10. They are massive in all their parts. The sills are white oak and Georgia pine. The journals are 7 1/2 by 8 3/4 inches. The trucks are of angle iron with very heavy frame and arch irons. They have double elliptic springs, 4 1/2 inches wide. The trusses are wrought iron. The ladders and handles are convenient for the men, and for safety and usefulness are far superior to those on most railroads. The managers of the Central and Southern spend more money and take more pains to make their employees safe and comfortable than any company in the United States.

Another Colonel.

The GAZETTE has a phenomenal printer. He associates with his fellows, and nothing in his conduct would indicate that there is an unabridged chasm between himself and the other compositors. Yet this fortunate man has two pairs of pants. The boys have already dubbed him "Colonel," and many mysterious rumors are gaining circulation in regard to a rich aunt, who is said to have been inherited by the lucky Colonel.

It Didnt Come.

The local editor was requested to visit the Reno Foundry this afternoon, in order to witness the making of a four-ton casting; The busy scribe returned word that the article would have to be brought up, as he had no time for the visit. The paper was kept open up to the last moment, and yet the casting did not come. It is very strange that people cannot learn, etc., etc.

More Mines.

Henry Miller, from the mining district in Roop county near the Salt Marsh, is in town. Miller reports that work is going on quite steadily in the new camp and that all parties interested are well satisfied with the prospects. The district has had many friends since its discovery, and their faith is strengthening daily. The mines are located about twelve miles from the Surprise valley road.

Baptist church—Prayer meeting at 11 A. M. every Sunday, and Sunday School immediately following. Congregational church, G. F. G. Morgan pastor—Service to-morrow evening at 7.30. Sunday School as usual.

Athletic Club.

The exhibition given last night at the gymnasium by the Reno Athletic Club was well attended. The class showed considerable progress in many directions, and its various members are fast becoming accomplished athletes. The fencing and boxing exercises in which Messrs. Fassett, Sooy and Levy took part, were quite interesting, and the class exercises were equally good. Mr. Wulf of Virginia City, led the class and Tom Alexander of Reno, did the facetious business.

The Mighty Quill.

A dog ran against the quills of a fretful porcupine last winter near Mayberry's and has not been known to eat anything but tree bark and grass since that time. Yet he seems to live and thrive without difficulty. It has always been acknowledged that the quill was mightier than the sword, but in this case it seems to be mightier than groceries and provisions.

Con Esmeralda.

A force of men is working on the Con. Esmeralda mine pending the renewal of operations at the mill which will start up some time next week. There are several thousand tons of ore now on the dump and an unlimited quantity in sight in the mine. The ore is not sorted but will be milled just as it comes from the mine.

Musicals.

The Fourteenth Rehearsal at the School for Girls was well attended last evening by friends and patrons of the institution. The principal numbers were National Airs arranged for organ and two pianos, and the two vocal choruses, "Rubinstein's" "Naïad," and "Come Where the Lillies Bloom."

Don G. & S. M. Co.

The sale of delinquent stock of the Don G. & S. M. Co., advertised to take place on April 21st, was on that day postponed until May 2nd, at the same hour and place.
T. W. Loken, Secretary.

The Dairy Queen.

Geo. Freeman, of Rocky Point in Sierra valley, is exhibiting a model of a churn which is instantly pronounced by butter-makers to be the cream of all churns. The general form of the machine is a cylinder lined with granite iron ware, in which revolves a shaft armed with 24 beaters. The beaters are slightly bent and are of a triangular shape with the sharp side forward. The beater shaft is connected with cog gearing and a crank wheel outside. The shaft makes three revolutions to one of the crank. When the butter comes and the work gets heavy the cog gearing can be thrown off and the crank works on the shaft direct. The crank wheel is a heavy one and acts as a fly wheel. In working the butter the milk is drawn off and the water poured in. The beater is then turned backward and the flat sides hammer away, pressing the whole into a compact mass. Salt can be worked in the same way. The machine will be made from $15 to $40 in price, to work from 12 to 150 pounds of butter. They are patented in this country and Canada.

Fruit Notes.

Washoe has been for so long the victim of adverse season in the form of cold winters and late frost, that our orchards have been considered very unreliable. Last year, however, the climatic conditions were favorable and the result was a larger yield of fruit than one would have anticipated, and a large amount of money was kept at home in consequence. There are warehouses full of apples from the northern country still left over from last years crop. Many of the low ranches in the meadows raised their own fruit, and the Reno trees were all loaded. The present season has been exceptionally early and the orchards look like a cloud of beautiful red and white blossoms. From the ranches in every direction encouraging reports are received and in the neighborhood of Frankton there are cherries already the size of large peas.

Pyramid.

The Jones & Kinkead mine and mill have been closed down pursuant to an order from the Board of Trustees. Work has commenced on the tunnel contract and three shifts of men are employed, working day and night. The contract specifies that the work must be prosecuted with this degree of diligence. The formation is now very hard and work necessarily progresses slowly.

The Crown Prince and Roman Capital Companies are pushing forward as rapidly as possible. There are now about twenty-five men working in the camp.

The mines now being worked near Carroll's station contain copper ore.

A Source of Independence.

N. H. A. Mason went to Carson this morning. He is a fine traveling companion, and can tell as good a story as anybody. He says he ran a grist mill in Arkansas once, and a "poor white" came to him for charity in the shape of corn meal, when the conversation ran as follows:
Mason: "Why, I gave you a sack of corn meal a couple of weeks ago. If I give you another you will be back inside of a month for more."

P. W.: "No, indeed I won't, Massa Mason. Inside of three weeks blackberries 'll be ripe, an then corn meal can go to hell."

Fresh Fish.

This morning the GAZETTE was notified that a fish had arrived from Pyramid which desired a name. The remains were received at Hagerman's store, and while the reporter went out to obtain advice on the subject the corpse was spirited away by some person or persons unknown. This is not as important as the Stewart case, but we are just as liable to recover the remains.

District Court.

The case of the State of Nevada ex. rel. Geo. A. Rankin, District Attorney, vs. the officers of the Orr water ditch company, is on trial in the District Court before his Honor S. D. King. Judge. A special venire of twelve jurors was issued this forenoon, returnable at two o'clock P. M.

Train Note.

Trains No. 3 and 4, the lightning, have been taken off according to announcement in the GAZETTE. A special left here at 12 M. to-day going west. It carried Conductor Connor and crew, who goes to Alta to take his run from that point on Monday next.

PERSONAL.

M. Nathan has returned from San Francisco with new goods.

John H. Harris, ex-District Attorney of Storey, is in Wood River.

Senator J. D. Hammond, of Ormsby, came in from Eureka last night.

Wallace Coffin and wife, of Mill City, are visiting the old folks at home.

McMasters, Indian Agent, and Wason, Clerk, have returned to Pyramid reservation.

Hank Smith, the mining expert, came in from Lander county last night. He reports favorably.

Judge E. D. Wheeler, of San Francisco, is in Reno on N. & O. railroad matters. He will remain some days.

W. B. Gilbert, of Palmyra, New York, who is representing eastern capital in Plumas county, passed through Reno yesterday.

James E. Mills, of St. Louis, Mo., has gone to San Francisco. He represents Eastern men in a mine near Greenview, Plumas county.

Joe Jones and party start for Wood River on Thursday next. Mr. Jones has been a valuable citizen for Washoe, and the Wood River folks will find him a rascler.

An Unnatural Son.

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child." The above sentiment by a standard author finds a peculiar application in a remarkable family estrangement which has lately been reported from Julius Jaekel's ranch near Reno. At that place there resides a cow and calf between which there has hitherto existed a tender affection. The precocious calf has, however, for reason best known to himself, withdrawn his filial affection from the guardian of his youth, and bestowed them on a mule. The mule accepts the situation and the calf yells like a hired man whenever the necessities of trade withdraws the long-eared mother of his adoption from sight.

Hungry Hoppers.

W. E. Price, of Franktown vicinity, says there were millions of grasshoppers in the timber last year, and he expects to meet them again. He has not studied their disposition towards cordwood, but does not think they will tackle it. Messrs. Dean, Bryant and Johnson have seen enough to satisfy the most exacting mind. Mr. Van Meter thinks the cathartic properties of the young and rich alfalfa will produce an epidemic among the hoppers, but this may safely be doubted.

Young Vandals.

Heads of families should lecture their young hopefuls on the proper use of jackknives. Complaint is made to the GAZETTE that in several localities the growing trees have been seriously injured by the school children. Wm. Illidge, Mrs. Cunningham, and others have good cause for complaint, and the elms about the school house have also suffered. Mr. Illidge proposes to give the young artisans a physical item if they are caught in the act.

The Dark Horse Wins.

According to the Carson Appeal, a Carson sport who saw a Post editorial headed "Bimetallism Ahead," went to Tump Winston to borrow $100 to bet on him. "New pedestrians are continually popping up and beating the old stagers. I always bet my money on the dark horse."

Police Court.

Thomas Walburn was loud and tipsy, and has been secluded by Judge Young for 30 days.

J. Doe, a Frenchman, not having been buy for a year, will keep Tom company for half the time.

Wadsworth.

The teams have not yet been taken off between Wadsworth and the outlying mining regions. There is still a small amount of freight remaining to be handled, and when this is completed the teams will vanish.

Fine Plan.

C. B. Martin, of Wadsworth, submitted plans before the Asylum Commissioners in Carson yesterday. A competing architect, Mr. Sturgeon, of Reno, compliments Mr. Martin very highly on his work.

Preventive.

Eureka has a case of small-pox, but the Sentinel says there is no cause for alarm. In view of the reports given by the Indians of small-pox among them, a little care to avoid exposure would not be out of place.

How a Rebel Major Got His Pardon

From the Springfield Republican.

A few days after the war had been declared at an end, Major Drewry went to Washington, and, without the usual ceremony of sending in his name, least he should be refused an interview, made his way into the presence of Secretary Stanton. "Mr. Secretary," said he, "I want my pardon as soon as possible. I've fought against you as long as I could, and I've been whipped; and now I want to go home and go to work. I've got hundreds of acres of land that have been lying fallow for the last four years, and I want to get seed into every inch of it this spring, so I'll thank you to give me my pardon and let me go." He talked so fast that Mr. Stanton couldn't get in a word; but being amused and rather pleased at Major Drewry's bluff manner, he asked at last, "Oh what ground do you expect to get a pardon, sir?" "On the ground, sir, that I showed you how to build a navy. You sent your fleet of old wooden ships up to Drewry's Bluff, and we knocked 'em all to pieces, and showed you, sir, that wooden ships weren't worth a d—." And then you went to work and got together a navy that was worth something, and it's on the ground that my men proved your needs to you that I want a pardon." The Secretary laughed, and told the honest rebel to call next day, as he would like to talk further with him. Next day Major Drewry got his pardon, and, in return, gave Mr. Stanton a great deal of valuable information concerning the South and its prospects. He went back to his pleasant home on the James, and has ever since been a wise, enterprising, prosperous citizen.

A Great Traveler.

Rochester Democrat.

Charles W. Poulson, publicly acknowledged to be "the greatest traveler in the world," was in town a short time ago. Mr. Poulson, although he is yet quite a young man, had traveled at the last reckoning, one million five hundred thousand miles. He traveled around the world with General Grant, and has been in Europe four or five times. He has been in San Francisco half a dozen times. He was on board the steamer Paris C. Brown, which came near going over the falls at Louisville, with one hundred passengers on board. Poulson was on board the Narragansett when her fatal collision with the Stonington took place, and was among those reported lost, and thus had the satisfaction of seeing his own obituary in the New York and Philadelphia papers. He generally travels with a Scotch terrier dog. This dog has been in Cincinnati four times, and has been in twenty-seven different cities. So well is he acquainted with his master's usual route that he is often left to himself in the baggage cars for a distance of one thousand miles, but he generally manages to turn up in the end. Mr. Poulson and his dog have met with many accidents, but, as he himself says, they have never yet been killed.

Good Solid French.

The silver Cliff Prospect has this: Mr. Mackay and his father-in-law, Colonel Hungerford, sat side by side in a proscenium box in a Paris theatre one evening recently. They looked complacently over the vast and brilliant assemblage.

"Bong-tong audience," said Mr. M. to Colonel H.

"Wee," replied the Colonel to our John.

"Eleet—cram de de la cram—hote tong, eh?" quoth John, as his shirt bosom swelled with conscious pride.

"Wee," said the Colonel.

The Colonel then shook hands with the Comstock millionaire and congratulated him on his flow of French. The curtain went up and one of the stars flashed like a meteor before the spectators.

"Magnifique!" cried the Colonel.

"Tray bean!" shouted Mr. M.

"Onkree!" shouted the Colonel.

"Toot sweet!" yelled John.

After the play Mackay drew the Colonel to one side and whispered in his ear: "I don't mind tellin' ye, I spoke Italian as well as I do Frinchee do you?"

"Yes," replied the Colonel, "I guess we've both been cultured in the same hot-house."

A Child's Body Preserved in Alcohol.

Marysville Appeal, April 24th.

Hank Helm, the driver of the Marysville and La Porte stage, reports a strange discovery made at La Porte two days ago. The hydraulic pipes of a mining company while piping down the hill there unearthed a small metallic casket which, falling down into a ditch, burst open. It had been filled with alcohol which was spilled when the casket was broken. In the casket was the body of an infant about three months old, the flesh of which was hard and perfectly preserved, and the clothes even were in a state of perfect preservation. An old colored woman who has lived at La Porte many years, remembers that the body was buried in the hill just twenty-nine years ago, but does not recollect who were its parents. After examination by many wondering spectators the casket containing the body was again filled with alcohol and interred in another locality.
